| By Connie Dufner, Marissa Conrad & Korey Karnes Huyler |

Snowmass, Colorado

Never mind the partially stalled Snowmass Base Village development just across the road, a victim of the economic slowdown. The year-old Viceroy Snowmass hotel has made a stylish entrée which shows no signs of slowing down. With its handsome, urban-influenced décor, environmental sensibilities (visitors are handed a reusable water bottle at check-in) and suave fine dining destination Eight K, the resort has redefined mountain chic. From $635, viceroyhotelsandresorts.com/snowmass >>> Venture into nearby Aspen for dinner at Ellina, a new Italian hotspot helmed by chef Miguel Diaz, formerly sous chef at popular Ajax Tavern. The cool, cavelike dining room debuts expanded bar seating and a new menu this month. 970.925.2976 PEAK PERFORMANCE! The ski area includes four mountains, boasting 147 miles of trails; the longest run is 5.3 miles. aspensnowmass.com

PEAK PERFORMANCE! Park City's three mountain resorts contain more than 9,000 acres, 426 runs, bowls and terrain parks, and 58 lifts. Above: Upper-tier Deer Valley Resort includes Empire Pass, 1,600 acres of protected land and powder-perfect snow. parkcityinfo.com

Park City, Utah

Call it a blizzard of harmonic convergence—with the Sundance Film Festival, 2002 Winter Olympics coattails and new state liquor laws that make getting a drink easier, there are some serious new mountain highs in this bucolic wonderland about a half hour's drive from Salt Lake City. Local glitterati are anticipating the December opening of Montage Deer Valley, the third outpost of the exclusive hotel brand. Nestled at 8,300 feet in the Empire Pass of the Wasatch Range, Montage will feature 174 amenity-laden guest rooms, 81 private residences, a 35,000-square-foot spa with a dazzling indoor pool and sundeck and a subterranean pub with bowling alley. Sundancers, catch a sneak peek at the glam "Artist at the Table" opening event on the property. From $845, montagedeervalley.com >>> Montage joins expansive St. Regis Deer Crest Resort, which opened last Thanksgiving. Enjoy the slopeside view from a 90-second funicular ride up to the lobby. From $199, stregis.com/deercrest >>> In historic downtown, check out Talisker on Main, serving robust mountain fare with an aggressive sophistication. taliskeronmain.com >>> And High West Distillery & Saloon, Utah's first since Prohibition, combines fine dining with small-batch vodkas and whiskeys for the state's first ski-in/ski-out gastrodstillery. highwest.com

One Ski Hill Place, Breckenridge.

Breckenridge, Colorado

If Vail is the Mercedes of ski towns, then Breckenridge is the Audi—equally covertable; infinitely less glitzy. Charming, until it comes time to find a condo with the bells and whistles you're used to. Enter One Ski Hill Place, a new ski-in/ski-out resort that ups the Mobil ante without straying too far from Breck's casual roots. Take a spin around the lobby's 360-degree fireplace and up to the Living Room—where guests sip wine to a player piano's soft chords of "Christmas Time Is Here," never mind that it's September—and get in touch with your inner angel amid plenty of play-it-safe chocolate leather. Same goes in the condos, which stick to classic brown fabrics. Yet amenities are tops, from full in-unit kitchens to a glistening duo of pools with steam and sauna rooms. Kids flock to the basement bowling alley, leaving the 'rents to savor cocktails in the outdoor hot tub. Rent or buy, choosing from studios up to 4-bed/4-baths, $665,000 and up. That way, you can come back whenever to hit the slopes or the rustic downtown, where even a foie gras fix at local fave Relish doesn't involve changing out of your jeans. From $600, oneskihillplace.com, relishbreckenridge.com PEAK PERFORMANCE! 155 trails span 2,358 acres of ski terrain. breckenridge.com
